

Brought to you by conEdison Solutions
Energy Efficiency Experts

Subscribe | Forward to a friend

Welcome to Retail Energy Buyer

What is retail energy? Traditionally, consumers had only one option for purchasing their electricity and natural gas: the local utility company. In the 1980s and 1990s, the Federal Energy [\[...\]](#)

Ohio Residents Cautioned about Energy Solicitors

Officials in the City of Oregon, Ohio have cautioned consumers about door-to-door solicitors promising favorable electricity and natural rates, reports local newspaper The Press. Residents and [\[...\]](#)

MA Retail Shopping Website Proposal

We recently reported that the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities had directed retail suppliers to circulate a straw proposal for a planned retail energy shopping website. Providers have [\[...\]](#)

Nuclear Plant Shutdown Could Impact Prices in New England

At the end of 2014, Entergy shut down its Vermont Yankee nuclear plant and began the process of decommissioning it, as reported by the Boston Globe. The plant provided 604 MW of capacity and [\[...\]](#)

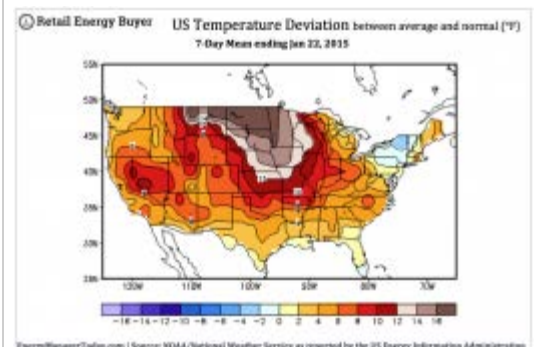

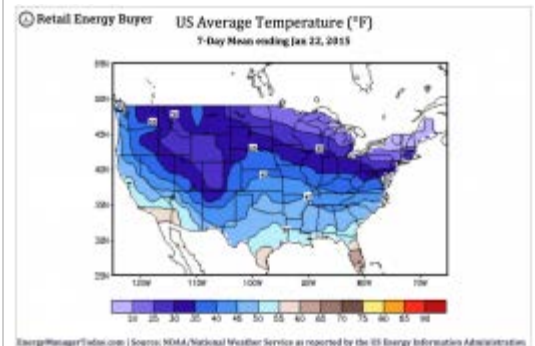

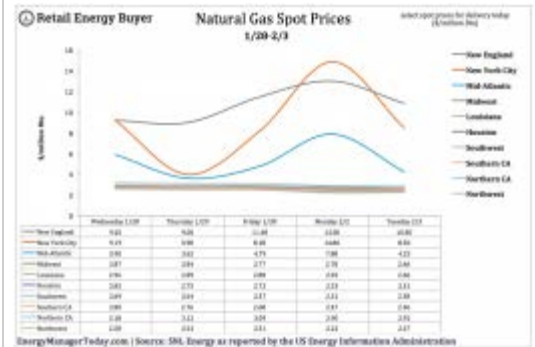

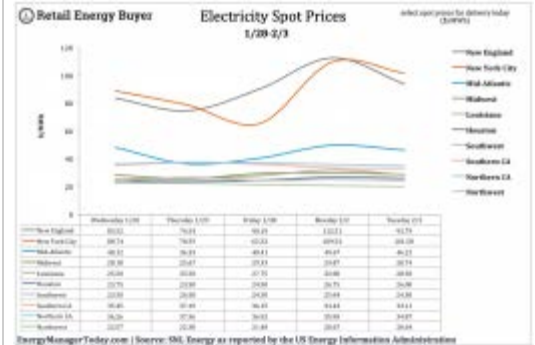

NY Bill Would Require Statewide Energy Price Study

New York Senator Alan Hevesi introduced a bill last week that would require the state's Public Service Commission and independent system operator to conduct an investigation into the cause of the [\[...\]](#)

IL Municipal Aggregator May Return to ComEd

The Chicago Tribune reports that eight municipalities which have participated in a municipal aggregation program in Illinois are considering returning to Commonwealth Edison. The North Shore [\[...\]](#)

THIS WEEK'S DATA

Rice University Solar Contract

Rice University announced that it has signed a one-year agreement with MP2 Energy to provide 7 percent of the university's energy. MP2 reports that the energy will come from First Solar's 22 MW [\[...\]](#)

Retail Energy Shopping Website Planned in Massachusetts

In December, the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities announced its intention to create a web portal to compare retail energy offerings from different providers. DPU has suggested that [\[...\]](#)

Advertisement

Energy Management Blog

- EIA: Lower gas prices, more renewables
- Rooftop solar boosts home resale value: study
- 7 trends for the future of building sustainability
- The rise and fall of coal

University of California's New Retail Energy Supplier: Itself

The University of California (UC) has become a licensed electric service provider and now plans to switch from a third-party supplier to purchasing power from its own Wholesale Power Program. [\[...\]](#)

Short-Term Energy Outlook – Jan 2015

DOE's Energy Information Administration (EIA) releases a monthly Short-Term Energy Outlook that contains price and consumption data on electricity, natural gas, and other commodities. This is the [\[...\]](#)

LIPA Petitioned to Investigate Retail Power Market

On January 5, the Retail Energy Supply Association formally petitioned the Long Island Power Authority to investigate the limited penetration of retail power in its service territory.

According [\[...\]](#)

Spiking Energy Prices Drive Interest in Competitive Power in Massachusetts

Gas and power prices in Massachusetts spiked last winter as a result of cold weather and natural gas supply constraints, and utilities have increased their rates to cover these costs. The [\[...\]](#)

White Papers

- Combined Heat and Power
- Let's Do The Math for DR
- Best Practices in Electricity Procurement
- Smart Companies Utilize Integrated Energy Solutions
- Increase the Value of Demand Response Through Automation
- 2013-20114 Winter Polar Vortex
- How "Fixed" is the Fixed Price Product?